FAMILY FEUD

Parents vs Kids Edition

SUPPLIES NEEDED:

- * The Family Feud - Kids Edition Answer Sheet
- * 1 medium size whiteboard/chalkboard and an easel (if on a stage)
- * 1 dry erase marker
- * 1 pair of scissors
- * 1 roll of tape
- * 1 package of envelopes

SET-UP/PREPARATION

- * Cut the Family Feud - Kids Edition Answer Sheet into the answer squares
- * Tape the set of "Round 1: kids" squares on the board in the front of the meeting space. Tape each card at the top, facing inward, so that they can be "flipped" upward and taped again to reveal the answer. Make sure to separate cards out enough, allowing space for the card below to be able to be flipped upward and taped without blocking other cards.
- * Place the remaining sets of answer squares into separate envelopes.
- * Mark the envelopes "round 2: parents", "round 3: kids", "round 4: parents" and "final face off."

GAME PLAY

Divide the group into kids and parents, having both groups facing forward.

Starting with the kids, read the question, call on the first hand you see go up, or randomly select a player to answer. Continue to play by doing the same thing.

Reveal the correct “answer square” if correct or “buzzer” an incorrect answer.

Continue revealing correct answers, or if the kids side gets 3 wrong answers, the parents have one chance to guess one answer and get to steal all the points.

End of round 1, write the total number of “points” on the white board for the team. The board is reset with the next set of answer squares

Round 2 goes to parents; game play continues like previous round. The board is reset with the next set of answer squares.

Round 3 goes back to kids; game play continues like previous round. The board is reset with the next set of answer squares.

Round 4 goes back to parents; game play continues like previous round. The board is reset with the “Final Face-Off” set of questions

“Final Face-Off”, one kid and one parent is randomly selected to come and face off. The question is read, and kids can answer first. They will get the accompanying points associated with a correct answer added to their team’s overall score. Game play continues until all correct answers are revealed or someone gets 3 wrong guesses

HOW TO WIN

The team that has the most points at the end of the game.
